

The Border Vidette.

ISSUED WEEKLY AT

NOGALES, ARIZONA.

—BY—

FRANK M. KING.

SEPTEMBER 4, 1897.

MONDAY is Labor Day.

NOGALES can boast of the biggest sanitarium in Arizona.

If providence is with the administration providence must also be on a vacation.

PRICES are rising on articles of consumption. The trusts alone are being benefitted.

HAS prosperity shown up in your neighborhood yet? Are you getting any more pay for your labor? How.

MEXICO'S silver bonds continue in demand abroad. Somebody has plenty of faith in the white metal.—Mexican Herald.

THE Republican papers keep right on telling us that prosperity is here. This is about as near as we will get to it during the life of the administration.

SOME of the finest peaches grown in Nogales are raised by M. Risinger. We saw some this morning that would rival the production of any country.

A MAN who is always finding something bad in everybody else and can see very little good in any one will bear watching for he can't have much good in himself.

THE Tucson Star is about right when it says: "The prosperity procession is built somewhat upon the circus parade order. The noisiest part of it is in the band wagon."

"Poor Old Mexico!" exclaims an American. But we notice that people keep on eating and drinking, buying goods, advertising, and hustling just the same in Poor Old Mexico!—Mexican Herald.

THE VIDETTE doesn't believe there are six men in Nogales who deserve tar and feathers. In fact we believe this mode of punishment a relic of bygone days. If a man has committed a crime so bad as to deserve such treatment why not hang him!

WE object to the Phoenix Republican crediting all our items to the Oasis. For some time the Republican has been clipping good live news notes from THE VIDETTE and crediting them to our contemporary and we are jealous.

THE city election on the Sonora side resulted in a sort of a draw. Voting was stopped before it was finished and the result was no election and we understand the governor will make the appointments. In the meantime the present officials will holdover.

It's a very poor county that can't get up a little mining excitement these days. Yet such strikes as are reported were not uncommon before the Alaskan gold fever struck us. They were not much talked about then and excited little interest when merely mentioned.

THE nail makers have been overtaken by the tide of prosperity. They've just had their wages reduced and their union has been defined by the tariff-faithed manufacturer. They can accept the reduced wages or stave. "Government by injunction" leaves them that alternative.

COLLECTOR CHENOWETH and S. J. Duckworth made a great fight for the government in the Chinese deportation case before the U. S. court commissioner Thursday. In the absence of the U. S. district attorney they conducted the case and judging from the able manner in which they handled the case no U. S. attorney is necessary here.

AFTER enjoying the luxury of gold standard 40-cent wheat for four years the American farmers naturally concluded that it was not worth the labor and this year the crop in every state is short. In foreign countries the situation is about the same. As a result speculators are offering a dollar for wheat and the few farmers who are fortunate enough to have any are getting about 70 cents a bushel. In the aggregate however, farmers receive less for their wheat than ever before.

TREASURE LAND.

An Appropriate Title for the Story of Tucson and Pima County.

Mr. J. Geo. Hilzinger has just returned from Denver, where he has been for the past five weeks superintending the publication of his story. Denver is a trifle cooler than Tucson and Nogales, but this advantage is offset by the rarified air which compelled him to breathe twice as fast as he does here and kept him, as it were, struggling for an existence. He met a great many people who wanted to know something about Arizona, and was able to do good missionary work without impoverishing his fund of veracity. He needs this in his business. The book was fully criticised while in course of publication by some noted advertising experts and others, and it was pronounced far beyond anything of the kind heretofore published. The public, especially those who travel for recreation and profit, are tired of advertising dodges, souvenirs and photograph albums and want something to read. Mr. Hilzinger's book was found to be original in make-up, elegant in design, entertaining and instructive and of just the right size and shape. When they claim that the section of country that had enterprise enough to publish such a work needs no other advertisement, the author blushed and changed the conversation.

Arrangements were made in Denver to distribute a large number of the copies among parties interested in the subject, not only visitors from the east, but residents of Colorado who find the winter climate too severe. The Santa Fe system will also have copies of the story in its principal offices. Several thousand copies will be circulated in this manner, and Mr. H. is wondering just now who will foot the bill and fears that the altitude of Denver made him light headed and over-trustful. When he left Denver the printed matter was about to pass into the hands of the binders, so that copies will be soon available for distribution.

He calls attention to the fact that a book of 80 pages was promised, and that the book which will be delivered contains 160 pages, and hopes that no subscriber will seek to evade his contract on account of this little misrepresentation. To meet any objection of this kind he will cheerfully saw out the eighty additional pages and give them to the poor.

Mr. Hilzinger found that the eastern market was flooded with pamphlets purporting to be the stories of the different paradises and decided to adopt a title that was new enough to be patented, and called his book "Treasure Land."

SONORA NEWS.

Mining and Other Items from Our Sister State.

The woolen mills of Ortega & Hernandez, located at Ures, have suspended on account of lack of wool.

A public school has been established at Granadas, in the Moctezuma district, in charge of Prof. Moises A. Sanz.

El Sol states that Don Manuel Bringas of Moctezuma, killed Zeferino Duarte, at his house with a club because the latter insulted him.

Vice-Governor Figueroa has completed all the necessary arrangements to send an expedition to examine the archaeological monuments which exist in the Magdalena district.

During the last few days the storms have taken down all the telegraph lines from Torin, Alamos, Potam and Altata. A large force of men are working hard to get the wires up again.

El Imparcial complains of the great noise made by the employees of the shoe factory of Siu Fo Cheng & Co. every night especially every Saturday. The attention of the police is directed to the nuisance.

Don Rodolfo Tapia, postmaster at Hermosillo, has preferred charges against the editor of El Trafico. El Trafico accuses the new postmaster of being incompetent and generally not fitted for the office.

Alfredo Ezre, member of one of the best families of Sahuaripa, was at a dance on the 15th instant when he committed suicide in the ball room. He was in love and his affections were not reciprocated.

A severe windstorm struck the schooner Salvatierra belonging to Don Luis A. Martinez of Guaymas, on the 21st and 22nd, but owing to the good judgement of the captain she didn't founder. She was bound for Guaymas with corn from the Rio Yaqui.

On the 23rd a strong rainstorm struck the town of Torin on the Yaqui river and swept many houses away. Several women and children were nearly drowned. The good services of the regular soldiers saved many from a watery grave.

El Imparcial of Guaymas, complains of the number of beggars on the streets of Guaymas and thinks the chief of police ought to take the matter in hand and see that these plagues do not show up on the streets more than once a week.

On the seventeenth of August Manuel Borja left Sahuaripa for Guaymas with three hundred dollars to pay a bill there. Before reaching the mining town of La Casita he stopped to fix his saddle when the mule he was riding made a break and ran off to a band of other mules near by. From there he returned to Sahuaripa and gave notice of his accident. The money belonged to other parties and was lost as it was tied on to the saddle. The young man was so humiliated over the accident and so much grieved at the loss of the money that he committed suicide the next day. He left a note saying that he killed himself because people might think he stole the money, but he didn't steal it.

The Southern Pacific Company is building a new sidetrack between Stone avenue and Sixth avenue crossing. They are also building a spur along the site of the Eagle Milling Company's new warehouse.—Tucson Star.

Engineer John Schoonmaker returned from Oro Blanco Wednesday and resumed his run on the passenger Thursday night. Mr. Schoonmaker has some valuable mining properties in Oro Blanco district which are turning out some rich ore. We hope Mr. Schoonmaker has struck it very rich.

The Southern Pacific company has been able to reduce the number of day coaches on its trains by the use of a new car modeled something after the Pullman pattern. The car is separated into two or three compartments, one being given to the smokers, so that classes of passengers can be separated when desirable, and the hauling of extra cars that have only a few passengers at this time of year avoided. Transcontinental travel is prone to patronize northern routes during warm weather, but then it is the other way during cold weather, as getting stalled in a snow drift for several days is not the most pleasant of experiences.

The Nogales Athletic Club held its regular monthly social in their new hall last night. Every arrangement had been made for a good time and there was a large crowd out. Over thirty-five couples were present, the largest number who have attended a club social for months and the large roomy hall was amply large to accommodate them comfortably. The circus orchestra of seven pieces furnished the music which was first class. This with the large hall and fine floor went a long way to making the club's opening a success. A splendid supper was served at the Jubilee restaurant. Lack of space prevents giving the names of those present.
